

Although I am a Bush supporter, I find Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election to be a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation. This is a definite misuse of the public airwaves. It is extremely frightening that one company can have this much influence and it is very harmful to our democracy.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard. Thank you for your time.
